Prince Albert announces their Olympic Torchbearer for its January 11, Olympic Torch Relay

Volunteer Recruitment follows later the same day

Media and the public are invited to join guests at the official announcement of Prince Albert's Torchbearer who will light the Olympic cauldron on January 11, 2010. The event will also announce the winners of the poster contest and afford an opportunity to hear about the activities planned for the week leading up to the January 11 torch relay event.

The Olympic Torch Relay will see 27 torchbearers along a yet to be disclosed route (more on that later this month) that will wind its way to the final official torchbearer who will carry the torch the last leg to light the cauldron at the main event stage in Memorial Square (Corner of Central and 11th Street) and on its farewell journey from Prince Albert the following morning.

"As it gets closer, we are finalizing the details of a lot of great activities in our community that will lead up to this leg of the Olympic Relay Event along Prince Albert's streets," states Olympic Torch Relay Committee Chair Lisa Davis.
