Ash Trees Affected by Weather Conditions

Many of the City's Ash tree population have been affected by this year's weather. A cold spell, accompanied by frost, has taken its toll on the leaves of these trees. Numerous Ash trees lost the majority of their foliage after they began to leaf out. Most of the trees are slowly recovering, but will not be in full leaf until mid July.

The City's Forestry crew will be monitoring the recovery of the Ash trees. Pruning will be necessary on some of the trees as a certain amount of the limbs and branches may not recover. If you have a concern with a tree in a couple of months, please contact the Parks Office at 953-4800.
